

Contents

Introduction .....	5
Public vs. Private Spaces. General Considerations. ....	17
Bibliography .....	22
I. MARGINALITY EMBEDDED IN OPPOSITE SPACES.....	23
1.1. Binary Oppositions in “Wuthering Heights” .....	23
1.2. Representations of Nature and Culture Through Opposite Houses .....	24
1.3. Power Legitimizes Violence and Control in Private Spaces .....	30
1.4. Homesickness – the Identification with a Space.....	35
1.5. Revenge Transforms Homes.....	44
Bibliography .....	51
II. CAN GOVERNESSES BREAK MARGINALITY WITHOUT BEING PUNISHED? .....	53
2.1. Gateshead: the Beginning of Marginality or the Topography of Withdrawal .....	56
2.2. The Red-Room: “No jail was ever more secure”.....	59
2.3. Lowood: the Transition from Private to Public.....	61
2.4. Thornfield: Unveiling the Appearances.....	64
2.5. Marsh End (Moor House): the Beginning of Independence.....	72
2.6. Thornfield again: the Reconciliation of Past Frustrations and Mistakes.....	79
2.7. Ferndean: Order Prevails.....	81
Bibliography .....	83
III. OVERCOMING MARGINALITY IN NORTH AND SOUTH AND THE TRANSGRESSION OF BOUNDARIES .....	85
3.1. Urban vs Rustic Spaces in “North and South” .....	86
3.1.a. Helstone – the Idyllic Marginalizes the Labourer .....	88
3.1.b. London – Sophisticated Urban Space.....	92
3.1.c. Heston and Cromer – Prefaces to New Stages in Margaret’s Life .....	95
3.1.d. Milton – the Industrial North.....	96
3.1.e. Between the North and the South .....	100
3.2. Interior Spaces.....	102
3.2.a. Lower classes’ private space.....	103
3.2.b. The Hales’ Northern Interior Space = the Hales’ Marginality in the North .....	105
3.2.c. Thornton’s Home.....	107
3.3. Easing Out the Workers’ and Women’ Marginality .....	111
3.4. Apparent Homesickness – Idealisation of a Space .....	117
3.5. The Visitor – of Houses, of Social Classes, of Families.....	122
Bibliography .....	126
IV. FOREVER MARGINAL DESPITE TRANSGRESSING THE CHILDHOOD RURAL BOUNDARIES .....	129
Rural vs. Urban Spaces in “Great Expectations” → Uncivilized vs. Civilized Spaces .....	129
4.1. Outer, Infinite, Uncivilized Spaces .....	131
4.1.a. The Marshes and the Churchyard.....	131
4.1.b. The River Thames (Urban Outer Space) .....	135
4.1.c. Leaving Native Britain: Australia, Egypt, and the Sea Voyages.....	136
4.2. Finite, Civilized Spaces.....	139
4.2.a. Rural Spaces .....	139
The Forge and the Village.....	139
Satis House.....	141
4.2.b. Urban Spaces .....	144

The City.....	144
Barnard's Inn.....	146
Little Britain: Jagers' Lair.....	147
Wemmick's Castle.....	150
Pocket House.....	152
The Temple.....	154
Bibliography.....	156
V. WHEN TIME AND SPACE BECOME STRANGE: DOES THE 'WONDER-WORLD' HELP ALICE OVERCOME HER MARGINALITY?.....	157
5.1. Historical Context.....	157
5.2. Trends in the 19th Century Children's Literature.....	159
5.3. "Which way? Which way?": How the White Rabbit Lures Alice into Fantasy.....	162
5.4. Down the Rabbit Hole (Portals in Time and Space).....	164
5.5. The Horizontality of Wonderland: Long Passages and Hallways.....	167
5.6. Transgression of Bodily Borders.....	170
5.6.a. Growing and Shrinking through Eating and Drinking.....	170
5.6.b. Victorian Cultural Symbols as Magical Agents.....	173
5.6.c. Eating and Drinking as Repetitive Patterns for Shaping Space and Time.....	175
5.6.d. Eating and Drinking as a Strategy to Grasp the Normal Bodily Limits.....	177
5.7. Subversion of Domesticity and Stability.....	179
5.8. A Mad Tea-Party: The Pinnacle of Disorder.....	183
5.9. Alice's Wonderland: Utopian or Dystopian Space?.....	186
Bibliography.....	191
VI. MAPPING TESS OF THE D'URBERVILLES' MARGINALITY.....	193
6.1. Margins without Centre.....	193
6.2. Journeys.....	195
6.3. Spaces.....	197
6.3.a. The Valleys.....	197
6.3.b. Woods and Forests.....	198
6.3.c. The Farms and the Communities.....	199
6.3.d. Towns.....	201
6.4. Time.....	202
6.4.a. Hardy's Use of Nature as a Manifestation of Space and Time through Emotions.....	202
6.4.b. Prehistoric Past.....	204
6.4.c. Ancestral Time.....	205
6.4.d. Recent History and the Present.....	206
Bibliography.....	208